

Civic Intelligence and Liberating Voices, A Pattern Language for Communication Revolution Informal Reports and Requests for Participation

Doug Schuler is a leading figure in the field of community networks and civil society innovations. For the past twenty years, his work has focused on issues of public interest computing and the social implications of technology. Schuler is author of the forthcoming Liberating Voices: A Pattern Language for Communication Revolution (The MIT Press, 2008) and co-editor with Peter Day of Shaping the Network Society: The New Role of Civic Society in Cyberspace (2004).

When: 11AM-1PM, Tuesday, September 30

Where: Room 242

LIS Building, 510 E. Daniel St., Champaign

Free and open to the public

Co-sponsors:

Illinois Informatics Institute;
Community Informatics Initiative,
with support from the Institute of Museum
and Library Services

For more information contact Sharon Irish at slirish@illinois.edu